THE FOUNDER OPERATING SYSTEM

THE SIMPLER GUIDE

A practical framework for founders who need more from their days, without adding more to their plate.

YOU'RE NOT THE PROBLEM. YOUR SYSTEM IS.

You're capable. You're driven. You're getting real results. And privately, you're running on empty. That's not a discipline problem. It's a system problem.

When the founder becomes the bottleneck, the fix isn't more strategy. It's a better operating system for your energy, because energy is what every other decision is made from. SIMPLER is that system. Seven levers. Not more to do. A better way to run what you're already doing.

Don't try to fix all seven at once. Find the one that's leaking most, and start there. The rest compound from a single honest change.

Built from the inside. I didn't design SIMPLER in a workshop. I built it to come back. From burnout, a business I walked away from, and an ADHD diagnosis at fifty, with a Team GB triathlon somewhere in the middle. It's what got me functioning again. Now it's what I teach founders. Keith West, Founder & Head Coach

STRUCTURE

BUILD THE DAY AROUND YOUR ENERGY, NOT YOUR INBOX.

Most founders let the day happen to them. Reactive from the first email, sharpest hours spent on whatever shouted loudest. Structure isn't rigidity. It's deciding, in advance, where your best energy goes, and protecting it before the day can claim it. Get this right and the rest stops running you.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

For the next three days, track your energy hour by hour. Notice when you're sharp and when you fade. Then start building the day around it: hardest work in your peak windows, low-focus tasks in the dips.

INTENTION

START FROM THE OUTCOME, NOT THE TASK LIST.

A full list isn't a plan. It's noise with a deadline. Intention is choosing the one thing that, once it's done, makes everything else smaller. Founders drown in activity because they mistake motion for direction. Busy is easy. Directed is rare.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Each morning, name the one outcome that would make today a win. Everything else is secondary, so treat it that way.

MOVEMENT

MOVEMENT IS NON-NEGOTIABLE.

You were not built to sit still for ten hours and stare at a screen. Nobody was. The body is designed to move, and when it stops, everything downstream pays for it: your energy, your mood, your ability to think in a straight line. This isn't training for the mirror. It's the fastest way to pull a wired system out of stress and back into clear thinking. Movement isn't the reward for finishing the work. It's what makes the work possible.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Ten minutes of movement before your hardest task. A walk, some mobility, anything that shifts your state. Not after the work. Before it.

P

PRESENCE

FOCUS IS THE OUTCOME. PRESENCE IS HOW YOU EARN IT.

Everyone tells you to single-task. Good luck doing that in a dysregulated state. You can't force attention onto a nervous system stuck in threat, it just bounces off. Presence is the practice underneath the focus you're chasing. A pause. A few slow breaths. A moment to notice you're in your body, and that you have a choice. Do it often enough and focus stops being a fight you keep losing.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Put two five-minute presence breaks in your calendar today. Stop, breathe, notice your state, then choose your next move. You're not killing time. You're training the system.

LET GO

05 / 07

WHAT YOU WON'T RELEASE IS THE CEILING.

Here's the founder bottleneck, plainly: the business cannot outgrow what you refuse to put down. You hold on because no one else will do it right, or because stopping feels dangerous. Both are stories. Both are capping your growth right now, and you've stopped noticing.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Name one thing this week to stop, delegate, or drop entirely. Not the easy one. The one you've been holding too tightly.

FUEL THE SYSTEM. STOP RUNNING ON FUMES.

You'd never run the business on no cash. Yet you run yourself on caffeine, adrenaline, and whatever's nearest at 2pm. Your inputs decide your output: energy, focus, mood, the quality of every decision. Enrich is treating fuel as infrastructure, not an afterthought you get to when there's time.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Stabilise one input. Protein at breakfast. Water before coffee. One real meal instead of grazing. Measure it by how you feel at 4pm.

R

RECHARGE

07 / 07

RECOVERY IS STRATEGY, NOT REWARD.

You were taught to earn rest, so you never quite do. But recovery isn't what you get after the performance. It's what makes the performance repeatable. The founders who last build the switch-off in deliberately. The ones who crash treat it as optional, right up until it isn't.

THE MOVE THIS WEEK

Set one hard stop this week and defend it like a client meeting. A real end to the day, where the business goes down and you come back up.

YOUR NEXT MOVE

THIS IS THE SYSTEM. NOW FIND YOUR STARTING POINT.

You don't fix all seven at once. You find the lever costing you most and you pull it first. The Founder Energy Quiz tells you which of four states you're in (Edge, Frantic, Fog, or Blocked) and exactly where to begin.

TAKE THE FOUNDER ENERGY QUIZ Free · 3 minutes · theenergeticedge.com

It tells you which of the seven levers to pull first, where your energy is actually going, and gives you a short video from Keith with your next move.
